SORROW IN MANY HOMES.

Mrs. George Beegle, Jacob Harbrant, Sr., W. Shippen Rock, Flemon H. Trout, Thomas Imler, Noah Bisel.

Mrs. George Beegle died at her home near St. Clairsville on Tuesday. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dunkle and was born in Path Valley, Franklin county, on April 14, 1821 With her parents, in 1824, she removed to Snake Spring township, this county. In early womanhood she was joined in wedlock to George Beegle, of Friend's Cove, where they lived for twelve years after their marriage. They then moved to Imler Cross-Roads and three years later moved to the place where she died, about two miles east of their former home. Besides her husband, who is eighty-seven years old, Mrs. Beegle is survived by the following children: Mrs. Jacob T. Barclay, Joseph S., of Imler Cross-Roads; Charles D., of Bedford; Mrs. J. F. Zerbe, of Canton, O; William, of Johnstown, and Mrs. Samuel Barefoot, of Windber. Three children preceded her to the spirit world—Mrs. Isaac Hahn, Mrs. William Sleek and Miss Sarah Jane Beegle. Mrs. Beegle was a sister of Jacob and Simon Dunkle, of Snake Spring township, and William Dunkle, of Bedford. Two sisters and two brothers are dead, namely, Mrs. Daniel Stuckey, Mrs Dunbar Sands, David and John Dunkle Mrs. Beegle was a member of the Lutheran church for many years. She was a consistent Christian, kind, charitable and trustworthy. Funeral services were held yesterday morning and were conducted by Rev. E. E Parson, of the Lutheran church. Interment was made at St. Clairsville.

Jacob Harbrant, Sr.

The subject of this notice was born in Germany, June 11, 1811, and departed this life October 22, 1901, aged ninety years, four months and 11 days. He was married to Elizabeth Boaman, in Germany, when he was twenty-four years old. Leaving his young wife in Germany, he came to America and worked for five years on the Ohio and Chesapeake canal. From there he came to Harmon's Bottom and found employment with Jacob Rifle, for whom he worked two years, when he returned to Germany for his wife, coming back to this country the same year, when he purchased the farm on which his son Jacob now resides and which is near New Baltimore. He followed the occupation of farming until the death of his wife, who died in 1885, since which time he has lived with his son Jacob on the farm. He was the father of six children, four of whom are dead, namely, Catharine, Susan, John and William. Those surviving him are Mrs. Ellen Sellers, of Lima, O., and Jacob, of New Baltimore. He was a man of the strictest integrity, a good neighbor and a kind and loving father. In religion he was a Roman Catholic, in politics a sterling Democrat. The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Father Smidt, of St. John's Roman Catholic church, New Baltimore, Thursday morning.

W. Shippen Rock.

On the afternoon of October 25 W. Shippen Rock died at his home in New Paris, after a short illness, leaving a wife and the following children to mourn their loss: Whelen, Beatrice, Crystal, Reba and Belle. He died on his thirty-ninth birthday, the day on which he had fixed to move into a new dwelling, which he took a great deal of pride in and worked faithfully to bring about its completion. He became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at the age of sixteen. The services were conducted by the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Pleasantville. Six young men of Pleasantville Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, acted as pall-bearers. Interment was made in the cemetery at Pleasantville, where a little son and daughter, Samuel and Vernie, were buried a few years ago. Mr. Rock was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Rock A brother and sister, Fred J. Rock, of New Paris, and Mrs. N. E. Kegg, of McMinville, Ore, and a half brother and sister, George B. Sleek, of New Paris, and Mrs. Mary R Otto, of Johnstown, survive him.

Flemon H. Trout.

Flemon H. Trout, a prominent citizen of Altoona, died on Saturday. The deceased was a son of Joseph Trout and was born in Bedford county on July 2, 1837. He was a resident of Altoona since 1861. For many years he was an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. He entered its service as a fireman and for three years served in that capacity. He was made an engineer and filled that position for twenty years, at the end of which time he was forced to resign, on account of his eyesight becoming impaired, and a year later be became practically blind, the optic nerves becoming paralyzed. Since then he was unable to see. Mr. Trout was married in Altoona on April 18, 1861, to Miss Sarah McMahon, who, with an adopted daughter, Mrs. W. H. Cover, and a brother, Joseph G. Trout, of Altoona, survives him.

Thomas Imler.

Thomas Imler, of near St. Clairsville, died on Saturday. Mr. Imler was seventy-two years old He lived in East St. Clair township all of his lifetime with the exception of ten years, during which time he resided in Blair county In 1875 he bought the Henderson grist mill, which he owned until ten years ago, when he sold it to his son-in-law, Frank Moses Since then he operated the mill for Mr. Moses His wife and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Moses, survive him. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. E. E. Parson, of the Lutheran church, were held Sunday afternoon. Decedent's brothers—J. H., A. H., Josiah and W. H.—acted as pall-bearers. Interment in the Lutheran cemetery at St. Clairsville.

Noah Bisel.

On the morning of the 25th Noah Bisel, a respected citizen of New Paris, was found to be dead by his wife when she tried to awake him. He was aged seventy-one years, nine months and four days. Mr. Bisel was blind for several years. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. J. Roudabush. The body was interred in the cemetery at the Stone church, near Fishertown. The following were the pall-bearers: Peter Gephart, David Mann, Job S Blackburn, David P Miller, Jacob McKinney and John W. Dobson.

Miss Hannah B. Finan.

Miss Hannah B. Finan, a sister of James Finan, of Everett, died at her home in Cumberland on Saturday.

IT IS NOT NECESSARY

For a Republican to Vote the "Regular" Ticket to Maintain His Party Standing.

In the following editorial the Philadelphia Press, one of the leading Republican papers of Pennsylvania, turns the search light of truth upon an argument used by the machine minions in an effort to intimidate and coerce the honest members of their party who are opposed to a continuance of the carnival of corruption that has so disgraced the Keystone state:

No more outrageous or insulting demand can be made of any Republican than the demand that he shall vote to indorse franchise steals, contract jobbery, blackmail, police protection of crime and vice, debauched elections and Ashbridgeism in general as a means of demonstrating his loyalty and fidelity to the Republican party The party requires no such sacrifice of character and self respect.

The Republican party rules even do not require that any member of the party shall vote the so-called regular ticket in order to maintain his party standing. He may vote for every candidate on the Union ticket, from District Attorney Rothermel down, without forfeiting his right under the rules of the party to participate in the future primaries. The bosses who are now in control of what is called the organization, and who presume to sit in judgment on the party fidelity of men who are Republicans from principle and not for what they can make out of it, were themselves but a short time ago banded against the organization ticket, bolting the party conventions in which they had been delegates because they could not control them, and combining with Democrats to defeat regularly nominated Republicans.

They did not lose their standing in the party in consequence of that course. Nor will any Republican sacrifice in any degree his relations to his party because this year he refuses to cast his ballot for the candidates representing Ashbridgeism, municipal maladministration and jobbery. On the contrary, the better Republican the citizen is the more determined will be his purpose to so vote as to rescue the city and the party from the dishonor which the election of the Durham-Ashbridge-McNichol candidates would mean to both The Republican people of this city owe it to themselves to declare at the ballot box that Ashbridgeism is not accepted by them as Republicanism, and to make that plain to all the world by a most decisive majority.

Let no Republican be blackmailed or coerced in his political action by the brutal demands of those who are Republicans only to use the party name and organization as they use the municipal administration, for private gain. The issues in this canvass are not such as divide men on partisan lines Public-spirited and conscientious Republicans and Democrats are standing together in a supreme effort to overthrow organized corruption and the banded machines of the two parties. It may not be so regular to do this, but it is everlastingly right.

There is no rule to throw a Republican out of his party for doing that; there is no rule of any kind to prevent it; on the contrary, every rule and demand of free and honest Republicanism requires it.

CRUSHED BY FLY-WHEEL.

Bedford County Young Man Fatally Injured.

William Musselman, fireman at the electric plant of Contractor H. S. Kerbaugh at Wilmore, Cambria county, was instantly killed Sunday morning by being drawn beneath a large fly-wheel. His head was mangled and his left arm torn between the wrist and elbow. He met his death while trying to throw off a belt with a stick about a yard long. In an unsuccessful effort to accomplish his purpose he was pulled under the wheel and fatally injured. The body was taken to Mr. Musselman's home in Bedford county, a short distance from Claysburg. The unfortunate young man was a son of John Musselman. He was about twenty-five years old and unmarried. His parents and several brothers and sisters survive him.

No one witnessed the accident. When a boy who had gone for a longer stick returned he found Musselman lying dead and mangled on the floor. The coroner of Cambria county held an inquest. The verdict of the jury was to the effect that "Musselman tried to throw the belt with a stick of insufficient length; that he was not doing anything in the line of his duty, and that death was purely accidental, no one being responsible."

Elect Jacob T. Anderson poor director and the monthly three days' banquet at the poor house will suddenly end.

New Brokers' Office.

Bruner & Deal, the commission brokers of Eleventh avenue, have opened an office in the Swank building, Johnstown. C. W. Bruner, of the firm, is now in Johnstown getting acquainted with the new trade, the Altoona office being left in the hands of his able assistant, H. C. Wunderlich. The firm has many friends in Altoona and will doubtless enjoy a liberal patronage in the Flood City.—Altoona Gazette.

Elect Jacob T. Anderson poor director and the leak in the expenses at the alms house will be thoroughly corked.

The United States court of claims on Monday gave judgments in the cases of several states having disputed accounts with the government for equipping troops for the war with Spain. In the case of Pennsylvania, the judgment in favor of the state is for $1,066,740, with several deductions, which will make the net amount $600,000.

One hundred and ten of the ring horses of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show were crushed to death in a railroad wreck near Lexington, N. C., Tuesday morning. Among the horses killed was "Old Pap," Colonel Cody's favorite saddle horse. "Old Eagle," the star ring horse, and the mules that drew the Deadwood coach also were killed. Colonel Cody says his loss is $60,000.

Twenty-one persons perished in a fire that started in and destroyed the furniture store and factory of Hunt, Wilkinson & Co., on Market street, Philadelphia; three buildings adjoining on the west and a small dwelling in the rear on Commerce street. Until the west wall of the burning furniture warehouse fell it was feared that other stores on both sides of Market street would meet a like fate. The total loss will reach $600,000.

Bring out the Democratic vote. There are honest Republicans in every election district in the state, heartsick of the corruption in their party, who will vote with us this year and until the present corrupt gang is driven from power.

$200 a vote seems to be the bidding price for votes of poor directors to elect stewards The quotations have run at this for some years. The people would like to know the asking price. It is time to make a change in that whole outfit.

YERKES WILL WIN.

Facts and Figures That Point to His Election.

The Philadelphia Times, one of the most conservative papers published in the state, confidently predicts the election of Judge Yerkes. In an editorial entitled "Yerkes Will Win" it says:

It is an open secret in the inner circles of Pennsylvania politics that Justice Potter can make no denial of the charges against him because he has confessed that they are true. We understand that the responsible authority which made the accusations in the first place stands ready to back them up with proof that will make Justice Potter's position even more pitiable than it is now, if such is possible. But whatever may be put forth in mitigation or atonement between now and election day cannot change the situation. The work has been done. Justice Potter by remaining mute has shown his own unfitness. It was not the gross impropriety of betraying the court's decision before it was regularly announced that alone hurt his case; far greater damage was done by the part he played in subserviently doing a politician's work on the bench for the politicians who controlled him, and by showing the utter lack of that conscience and high-mindedness which should mark the course of a member of the highest court of the state.

While Justice Potter has been losing thousands of votes on his record, Judge Harman Yerkes has steadily grown in public esteem and support by his work as a judge, his standing as a citizen and his eminent qualifications for the honors of the supreme bench. Not a flaw has been found in him. Not a single word of any weight has been spoken against him. It is universally conceded that he will poll the entire Union and independent vote of the state. Already some of the newspapers which support the machine ticket have withdrawn their commendation from Justice Potter and confessed that he will run far behind the ticket. All this means that Judge Yerkes will poll a personal vote that will be remarkable in size and general in its distribution.

The significance of these facts is emphasized by the figures of the off-year elections in Pennsylvania. Take the vote for state treasurer in 1897. The machine candidate received 372,448 votes; the other candidates, representing the opposition to the machine, received over 383,000, showing that the machine was in the minority. Even more important is the vote by which William A. Stone was elected governor in 1898. We give the official figures:

Stone, Machine Republican	476,206
Jenks, Democrat	358,300
Swallow, Prohibition	125,746
Swallow, People's	2,058
Barnes, Socialist Labor	4,278
Swallow, Liberty	682
Swallow, Honest Government	4,495
Scattering	32

Stone was elected by a minority vote. With all the machine could do for him the result stood:

Stone	476,206
Against Stone	495,541

Of the total vote next Tuesday Philadelphia will cast about one-fourth, and Philadelphia, instead of giving a majority of nearly 60,000 to Potter, as it did to Stone, should cut the number down beyond the point of disappearance.

In Harman Yerkes the state will have a justice who will meet the highest requirements of the office. His election will be one of the best results in the records of Pennsylvania politics.

Democrats, to the polls! Don't leave a vote at home. Lead the fight for honest government.

When $200 a vote is the bidding price for votes of poor directors to elect a steward, what a field for bidding in letting out the contracts to expend $7,000 last year in improvements! What a good thing for the county to have had honest Jacob T. Anderson there.

Funeral of J. Frank Little.

The following is quoted from a despatch from Elkins, W. Va., October 27, to the Cumberland News, giving an account of the funeral of J. Frank Little: "The largest funeral that has ever taken place here was that of Engineer J Frank Little, who was buried in Maplewood cemetery this afternoon. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. L. Fish, of the Episcopal church, in the Davis Memorial Presbyterian church in order to accommodate the large attendance. A special train of four coaches conveyed the funeral party from the town to the cemetery. At the grave the burial service of the Masonic fraternity, of which the deceased was a member, was read The B. of L. E. also conducted their ritual at the conclusion of the Masonic service. There were twelve pall-bearers. Six from each order. * * A special car was attached to the regular West Virginia Central train No. 1. for the use of those who wished to attend the funeral from Cumberland The railroad company furnished free transportation for all railroaders and their wives and held the regular passenger train, No. 4, two hours until the funeral was over. The floral tributes were many and beautiful; chief among them were a handsome keystone and a square and compass from the Masons; "Gates Ajar" from the B. of L. E; a star, Ladies' Auxiliary B. of L. E; a broken wheel, from the employees of the West Virginia Central. Many other tributes were sent by individuals. Mr. Little, who was one of the most faithful engineers on the West Virginia Central, was born in Bedford, Pa."

So the present poor directors claim and take pay for one hundred and twenty-five days' services each year. Let us have a change in that shop. With Jacob T. Anderson in that board the work will be done better in less than half the time.

Hello, Everett!

The Bedford County Telephone company is extending its line to Everett and expects to have the work completed by the first of January, next. Four wires will be strung between the county seat and the big borough.

There is an air of jobbery about every thing connected with the poor house. The expense account was increased $7,000 last year. Who got it? How was it spent? Were there any private snaps? The public has a right to know.

Hon Henry C. McCormick, attorney-general of this state during the term of Governor Hastings, refuses to support the Republican state ticket and is out making speeches for Coray and Yerkes, the Democratic candidates.

BATTLE FOR REFORM.

Chairman Creasy Urges Voters To Unite Against the Foes Of HONEST GOVERNMENT.

The Democratic Leader Says the Election Offers an Opportunity for the Release of the State From an Infamous Bondage.

The following address has been issued by Chairman Creasy, of the Democratic state committee:

To the voters of Pennsylvania:—An extraordinary chapter in the history of Pennsylvania politics has just been recorded, one which should arrest the thoughtful attention of every citizen and arouse him to a sense of his bounden duty toward the commonwealth. In the conflict which has been waged with the persistent foes of honest government all efforts to protect the ballot box from pollution have been either openly and bitterly opposed, or sinister attempts made to nullify the fruits of intelligent and earnest work for ballot reform. At every step obstacles have been put in the way of the free and independent exercise of the right of suffrage. Needless and vexatious requirements have been insisted upon with the sole object of preventing the success at the polls of those non-partisan movements absolutely necessary at times to overcome the combined power of evil forces in public life.

Face to face at last with the swelling tide of patriotic revolt against intolerable conditions, it was determined to break down, if possible, this inspiring union of honest citizenship through an eleventh hour appeal to the courts This action was not based upon even a fragment of justice—for any alleged trespass upon personal rights could have been fully considered at any other time—but the barest technicality of procedure. The purpose was so plain that none could be deceived and was as unjustifiable as it was significant. It was hoped to prevent a half million Democratic voters from having the opportunity to strike a direct and effective blow at the blighting and doomed cause of Quayism. Such a transparent scheme of unprincipled and desperate political leaders clearly shows the fear which possesses them.

The possibility and growing certainty that a trustworthy representative of the people will be commissioned to take charge of the state treasury fills the ring with alarm This one fact should serve as an unerring finger-board, showing the honest voters of Pennsylvania their duty in this crisis. Never before has such a plan to defeat the manifest public will been resorted to. Never before have baffled political conspirators dared to snatch the ballot of his choice from the citizen's hand Never before have political highwaymen thus attempted to hold up the patriotic freemen of our great state.

Happily, this despicable device to save an imperiled machine has utterly failed. The utmost demands of party regularity have been swiftly and completely complied with. The reform banner is still aloft, bearing the honored names that every honest Democrat in Pennsylvania, and every honest Republican as well, should be proud to indorse at the polls. We, therefore, in the name of a Democracy that means the very highest form of political purity and personal and official integrity, appeal to you to gird on the armor for an immediate and triumphant assault upon the citadel of Quayism. Let the remaining days of the campaign be zealously devoted to bringing every voter into line for Yerkes and Coray. The signs of victory are most encouraging on every hand. An earnest union of good citizenship in every county, in every city and town, and in every election district, will surely mean the utter rout of the enemies of the people

A vote for Yerkes means the upholding of the highest standard of judicial ability and integrity; the protection of the court of last resort from the contamination of evil influences. Every citizen is vitally interested in the maintenance of the purity of the tribunals of justice. A vote for Coray means an effective protest against the prostitution of public office to base selfish purposes.

The state treasury has been the financial fortress within which a conscienceless and corrupt ring has been entrenched for nearly forty years. To drive them out, open the books and enforce honest administration, is the supreme duty of voters this year. The chance to do this has never been so favorable. Now is the time for a union of the patriotic citizenship of our long enthralled commonwealth which will lead to its speedy release from the iniquities of machine bondage.—WILLIAM T. CREASY, Chairman Democratic State Committee.

When the postmaster general opposes the Republican ticket, on account of its alliance with the corrupt gang having control of the party in this state, it ought to be an easy matter for the postmasters to vote for Coray and Yerkes.

Bigley-Brumbaugh.

The Altoona Tribune of Wednesday contained the following:

"A pretty wedding last evening was that of Mr. Edward J. Bigley, junior member of the clothing firm of Leopold & Bigley, and Miss Leona Brumbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brumbaugh, of 1106 Eighteenth avenue. The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock at the rectory of St. Mark's Catholic church by Rev. N. J. O'Reilly. The attendants were Miss Margaret Bigley, a sister of the groom, and Mr. Allen Brumbaugh, a brother of the bride. The bride was prettily gowned in a creation of white French muslin over white silk and carried white bride's roses; the bridesmaid wore white French muslin over blue silk and carried white carnations. After the matrimonial knot had been tied the bridal party were driven to 1534 Tenth street, the future home of the happy couple, where a reception was tendered. A half a hundred relatives and friends were in attendance and showered them with congratulations and partook of an excellent wedding supper, served with pretty appointments The groom is a young and progressive business man and is popular in a wide circle of friends. The bride is a most excellent young lady and is in every way qualified to make her future home a happy one. Mr. and Mrs. Bigley will not take a tour but will spend their honeymoon in their own home."

Mrs. Bigley formerly lived in Bedford.

A STAR COURSE.

Series of Entertainments to Be Given By the Bedford Athletic Association.

The Bedford Athletic association will give, in the Ridenour Hall, during the winter a course of six entertainments, beginning in November and ending in March. The class of entertainers secured are of an exceptionally high character and the course will be as good as any, if not the best, ever presented here. The price for season tickets for the full course has been fixed at $2—thus making the admission well within the reach of everyone. The admission to any single entertainment will be fifty cents, so that the difference in price is a special inducement to buy a season ticket.

TOO RICH TO MARRY.

Edward Owings Townes' original picture comedy, "Too Rich to Marry," will be presented on the evening of November 13 The characters of the brilliant comedy pass in pictures before the audience as the lines are rendered by the impersonators. His lifelike representation of living people on the canvas makes the entertainment equal to a stage performance without a single objectionable feature. The remarkable mechanism by which the portrayal is effected marks an epoch in the age of invention in which we live. In the comedy the author has seized the spirit of the present time in the development of an excruciatingly funny plot from exclusively American characters and scenes. No one should miss it.

FAMOUS ALPINE YODLERS.

Reilhofer's Tyrolean Yodlers and Concert company of Bavaria have a national reputation that renders anything that we might say almost unnecessary. The entertainment will be a rare musical treat for the people of Bedford. The company appears in the Bavarian national costumes and exquisitely renders Tyrolean, American, yodling and echo songs to the sweet accompaniment of Alpine instruments. These artists are selected from the famous Reilhofer family, of near Ober-Ammergau, Valley of Ammer, Bavarian Alps, Bavaria, and have had a phenomenally successful career on the concert platform. They have been secured for the evening of January 3.

STEPHENSON STRING QUARTET.

The Stephenson String Quartet, consisting of Mrs. Etta Hunter Stephenson, Miss Clara Stephenson, Miss Elsie Stephenson and Miss Laila Stevenson, have filled engagements for many of the leading entertainment bureaus of the east, who have pronounced them the best musical attraction ever presented to their patrons. The press speaks of them in the highest possible terms and the association was most fortunate in being able to secure their services for the night of February 13, thus bringing before our people a higher class of entertainers than usually come to places of this size.

IN KWEER KOMPANY.

On the evening of December 19 the great Ellwood, magician, illusionist, cartoonist and art painter, will appear in "100 Minutes in Kweer Kompany." This promises an evening of rare entertainment and something different from anything ever given here before. Among the many mysteries shown is that of a plain fishing rod and line easily seen to be without any mechanical contrivance whatever. The line is baited, swung from the pole out over the heads of the audience, when immediately a live gold fish is caught on the hook and landed and placed in an aquarium of water—and it swims. This operation is repeated until the air seems to be a veritable fishing pond. This is only one of the many mystical performances of this marvelous magician.

THE LABADIES

The Labadies, the most popular entainers who have ever appeared in Bedford, will present "An Original Idea," a rare combination of wit, wisdom and humor, Monday evening, March 17. Our people will no doubt be glad to have another opportunity of attending the delightful entertainment given by these premier artists.

THE FORBIDDEN LAND.

H. Darwin McIlrath, "the man that millions have thronged to see," will give a lecture on an interesting and timely topic—"China, the Forbidden Land"—on the evening of March 10. Dr. McIlrath has lived among all classes of Chinese and is well equipped to handle his subject in an interesting manner. He will be assisted by superb colored views and cinemetograph pictures.

Go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for Harman Yerkes, Elisha A. Coray Jr, Jacob T. Anderson and George W. Blackburn.

Every citizen should go to the polls next Tuesday, November 5, and vote for good government and pure politics.

Voting "On Age."

1. A man who will be twenty-one years of age November 6 can vote November 5. The court has decided that his twenty-first year is complete on the day before the anniversary of his birth.

2. A man who has just reached his twenty-first year can vote "on age" and without the payment of any tax whatever; and he can continue to vote "on age" until he reaches his twenty-second year, after which he must pay a tax. The clause in the Constitution of the state bearing on this subject is as follows: "If twenty-two years of age, or upwards, he shall have paid within two years a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months, and paid at least one month before the election takes place."

Pretty nearly every prominent Republican official who holds office by appointment of the late President McKinley has bolted the present Republican state ticket and will support Coray for state treasurer and Yerkes for supreme judge. No wonder that Republican voters everywhere are ranging themselves on the same side.

Hon. David Martin, state senator from Philadelphia, denounces the Republican state and city tickets and supports Coray and Yerkes and the Democratic Union city ticket of Philadelphia. He has heretofore been one of the ablest workers in the Republican party and never before voted a Democratic ticket.

REPUBLICAN PREDICTIONS

Repudiated by the Condition of Affairs in the Philippines—Secretary Gage's Financial Beliefs.

Special Correspondence of the GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON, October 29—When the secretary of war and the president returned to the city last week they found awaiting them a condition of affairs that caused them no little disappointment. The news of continued trouble in Samar, the constant friction between the civil commission and the military authorities and the impossibility of reducing the military force now on the islands, notwithstanding the fact that some 10,000 men will have to be brought home, because of the expiration of the terms of their enlistment, all combine to repudiate Republican predictions and worry the administration. According to the latest advices, we are trying Weyler's Cuban reconcendrado policy in Samar. All persons found outside of the towns will be treated as outlaws. It's not surprising that Roosevelt squirms at the pass to which Republican colonizing policy has brought us

Senor Barretto, chief translator for the provost marshal general of Manila, is in the city. He is a native Filipino and knows the Philippine character well. He says that the United States has been premature in undertaking to control the islands by a civil commission, that the insurrection has not been put down and that the strong arm of the military is essential to the maintenance of peace He intimates that the commission has been duped in the choice of their native advisors and of their appointees and he cited the case of one Fedix Roxas, "who, having failed in the position first assigned him, that of governor of Batangas, has been appointed judge of one of the provinces in spite of the fact that he has never practised law."

Mr. Hopkins proposes to do his share toward the dissipation of the surplus by the establishment of a permanent census bureau. That a permanent census bureau might be maintained without any increase of cost and with, perhaps, an increase of efficiency, is not denied, but Representative Hopkin's bill will not do so. His bill provides for a salary of $7,500 for the director, Ex-Gov. W. R. Merriam, an assistant director at $4,000 per annum, and numerous other positions with salaries varying from $2,500 to $1,200. Undoubtedly with the present Republican majority in congress there will be no trouble taking care of the surplus.

The report comes from the White House that the president is going to introduce two innovations in his present message. First, that he proposes to write it all himself, instead of assigning to the members of his cabinet those portions dealing with their respective departments, and secondly, that he is going to send it to congress in typewritten form, it having been the custom, heretofore, to typewrite it and then have it transcribed with pen. The manuscript copy was then sent to congress, which body immediately turned it over to the government printer, who set it up and furnished, within an almost incredibly short time, printed copies to the house and senate. I understand, too, that the president will recommend the establishment of a department of commerce and industry.

In the state department a somewhat important change is to be made in the appointment of Herbert H D. Pierce, of Massachusetts, to be third assistant secretary, vice Thomas W. Cridler, resigned. Mr. Pierce is now first secretary of the American embassy at St. Petersburg and is a protege of Senator Lodge. Mr. Cridler's resignation was requested by Secretary Hay, owing to a difference of judgment between Mr. Hay and himself, and is "no reflection of his ability and integrity." Mr. Pierce was first appointed to the diplomatic service by President Cleveland.

In the hope of getting further light on Secretary of the Treasury Gage's financial beliefs, your correspondent called on the secretary and asked him to elucidate his proposition as propounded to the Bankers' association in Milwaukee. The secretary was so loath to talk on the subject that it gave color to the rumor that the president was not altogether pleased with his statements. He said that to enlarge upon the subject would be to discount his forthcoming report. He would not admit that the propositions would appear in precisely the same form in his report, but said that he would dwell upon his idea that "the government ought to be gotten out of the banking business." In reply to the question "Would you not place the people entirely in the power of the bankers, giving them the ability to enlarge or contract the currency at will?" He replied, "The prosperity of the bankers depends upon the prosperity of the people Their interests are identical. My idea is to get the government out of the banking business, which is not its province That is the business of the banks" He refused to discuss the matter further, saying "For further details you must wait for my annual report."

It has been made known at the navy department that Rear-Admiral Crowninshield is to be succeeded as chief of the bureau of navigation by Rear-Admiral Henry C. Taylor. Rear-Admiral Crowninshield will be given command of the European station, so that the transfer will be in the nature of a promotion, rather than otherwise.

His many friends here sincerely trust that he may be greatly benefited by his sojourn in California.

Epworth Leaguers.

The Hallowe'en entertainments given by the Epworth League Monday night was very much of a success. A large and appreciative audience greeted the lads and lassies. They brought with them a large contribution of fruits for the M. E hospital, in response to an appeal from the Mercy and Help department of the League, for which the latter desire to express their thanks. The Juniors also brought in a large amount of fruit. The literary and musical programme was in charge of D. S Horn, Esq, president of that department of League work. The specially enjoyable features of the programme were the dialect reading by Miss Bain, the motion song by the Juniors and the solos by Miss Gailey and Miss Kent. The last named lady deepened the good impression she had formerly made on our people and her singing was praised without reservation. A business meeting of the League was sandwiched between parts of the programme. A Harvest Home social will be held on the night of November 11. All are cordially invited.

Hon. Charles Emory Smith, postmaster general under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, Hon. Thomas L. Hicks, postmaster of the city of Philadelphia by appointment of the late President McKinley, Hon. Penrose A. McClain, collector of internal revenue in Philadelphia by appointment of the late President McKinley, all support the Union Democratic ticket in this state and Philadelphia city and will vote for Coray and Yerkes. In fact, it looks as though President Roosevelt had decided to throw the present gang, running Pennsylvania Republican politics, overboard. It may be that the Republicans who vote for Coray and Yerkes will be acknowledged as the real Republican party by President Roosevelt.

Active Democrats should be at the polls all day in every election district and when Democratic voters have not voted by three o'clock send for them.

On Wednesday the Bedford High School football team was organized with the following members: John Hughes, James Davidson, Walter Price, Jesse Smith, Daniel Billman, Frank Armstrong, Thomas Wolfkiel, Claar Hershberger, William Snell, Thomas Jordan, John Willoughby. Games have been arranged with Huntingdon for November 23 and 28. The boys expect to play a series of games with the Everett High School eleven.

E. W. Kellinger, the wide awake manager of the Bedford opera house, has booked for Monday night, November 4, a sterling attraction—"Bimbo of Bombay." This great comedy was presented at Hopewell some time ago and the theatregoers there were so pleased with the performance that the owner of the opera house made a special inducement to have the play given there again. An extra train will be run from Saxton to Hopewell Saturday evening, when "Bimbo of Bombay" will be produced by a first class company.

A full Democratic vote means victory.

The Poor Directors' "Explanation."

The only explanation that is given for increasing the salaries of the poor directors from $72 a year to $250 a year is that the latter sum includes their expenses in looking after outdoor cases. Our present poor directors are pocketing $250 a year each as salary. The law allows them $2 a day. According to their explanation they take $6 for each meeting. That is, a day to get to the poor house, a day to live there and a day to get home. Then a trip can be taken anywhere at any time, for which the county pays $2 a day. The directors meet twelve times a year, for which they claim and get $72—but the present board claims and takes pay for 90 days more each at $2 a day Do the people want to re-elect Mr Cessna on these terms?

RESOLUTIONS.

1. The Democracy of Bedford county, by its representatives in county convention assembled, recognizing the fact that the great question of the day is to bring about a condition of common honesty in the conduct of state and county officials, most earnestly endorses and affirms the platform of the Democratic party as adopted at its state convention held at Harrisburg on the 15th inst.

2. The use of money in controlling votes and voters by Republicans in this county has become so common that the results of primary elections in the Republican party only indicate the person or faction using the largest amount of money, and the same practices are common at the general elections. The Democratic party condemns the use of money to control elections and calls upon all good citizens to join in a crusade against this practice, so that elections may hereafter indicate the patriotic and honest judgment of the voters.

3. We deprecate the demoralizing warfare now waging between the greed of trusts and labor and express our sincere sympathy for the laboring man in this prolonged and uncertain contest. We believe that this warfare is the direct result of the encroachments of soulless corporations and the rapacious centralization of capital made possible by legislation, conceived, enacted and enforced by the moneyed power now dominating and controlling the Republican party.

4. In this county the office of poor director is of chief importance on the ticket nominated this day, and we ask all good citizens to join in the election of Jacob T. Anderson, this day nominated, who is honest and capable. The expenses of the poor house in the year 1899, as appear by official reports, were $17,754.36 and for the year 1900 $25,355.89. Nothing but dishonesty and extravagance in the use of public moneys can account for the disbursement of such sums, and while the Democracy will insist that the unfortunate poor shall be kindly and generously cared for, it will further insist that the maintenance of these unfortunates shall not be made an opportunity to satisfy the dishonest greed of conscienceless officeholders and their friends.

5. The candidate this day nominated for county surveyor, George W. Blackburn, Esq., is in every way well qualified to perform the duties of the office and we ask for him the support of the voters of Bedford county.

6. This county convention hereby authorizes and empowers the executive committee of the Democratic party of Bedford county to fill any vacancy on the ticket this day nominated, no matter how caused.

THE ISSUE AND THE CANDIDATES.

In the battle of the ballots next Tuesday it should not be difficult for any honest citizen to decide how he should vote. The issue has been clearly defined. In this campaign party lines have been eliminated and all independent, upright men have been fighting for reform—for clean politics and good government. Principles, not partisanship, are at stake. The leaders of the Democratic party early in the contest decided that this should be a fight against corruption in high places and, realizing that to make any progress in that direction it would be necessary to call to arms as large an army of volunteers as possible, they welcomed to their ranks all men of all parties who are opposed to the corrupt clique in control of the coffers of the commonwealth.

The last paragraph of the platform adopted by the Democracy of Pennsylvania is as follows: "We make the fight, not as a political organization seeking a partisan advantage, but in the interest of all Pennsylvanians, and will welcome a closer union with all political organizations honestly pledged to the same purpose."

Acting in accordance with this declaration, the Democratic party united with the honest Republicans of the state and selected a ticket that all honest men ought to support.

Harman Yerkes, nominee for supreme court justice, is a man of unimpeachable character. Upright, able and impartial, he is an ideal candidate for the position for which he has been chosen. When the people come to decide between the candidates for judge of the supreme court—Yerkes, with his clean record, and Potter, who betrayed his associates on the bench—there should be no hesitancy in deciding which of the two should be trusted with the property and the rights of the taxpayers for the next ten years. Yerkes has been tried and found faithful. Potter has also been tried and found wanting. Yerkes is highly esteemed by all who know him. Potter is tainted by his association with the corrupt oligarchy that has prostrated Pennsylvania in the dust. His record, as set forth in the newspapers—Republican and Democratic—should seal his fate. He has been earnestly urged to deny the charges preferred against him, but up to this time has resolutely refused to do so.

Elisha A. Coray, Jr., the Democratic and Honest Republican candidate for state treasurer, is a most worthy man. He was a member of the last legislature and ably advocated and voted for every Democratic measure introduced. He zealously assisted the faithful members of the Democratic minority in their efforts to frustrate the plans of the machine men to defraud and plunder the people. His opponent, Frank G Harris, the machine candidate, supported every malicious measure that was introduced and was a willing tool of the bosses. It is well known that the ringsters who have the state in their grasp will let nothing stop their carnival of corruption. The only way to protect the public moneys is to put an honest, incorruptible man on guard. This can be done by electing Elisha A. Coray, Jr.

Every Democrat and every honest Republican ought to vote for Yerkes and Coray.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

As in the state campaign, so in the county is the issue this year succinctly set forth. The resolutions adopted by the Democracy of old Bedford turn the search light upon a deplorable state of affairs. The use of money in controlling votes and voters by the Republicans is condemned and the party calls upon all good citizens to join in a crusade against this practice, "so that elections may hereafter indicate the patriotic and honest judgment of the voters." The crying need for this reform is patent to men of all parties, and now that an opportunity is offered to strike a blow at this evil, they should take advantage of it.

The dishonesty and extravagance in the use of the people's money, as evidenced by the official reports of the poor directors, is denounced. The taxpayers should guard their interests by electing a capable, honest man director of the poor. Jacob T. Anderson is upright, intelligent and trustworthy. If elected he "will insist that the unfortunate poor shall be kindly and generously cared for," but will not permit "the maintenance of these unfortunates to be made an opportunity to satisfy the dishonest greed of conscienceless officeholders and their friends." Jacob T. Anderson should receive the vote of every man who is in favor of honesty in the administration of public affairs.

As the platform says, George W. Blackburn, Esq., the Democratic candidate for county surveyor, is in every way well qualified to perform the duties of the office and deserves the vote of every citizen.

Vote for Yerkes, Coray, Anderson and Blackburn, and thus place yourself on record as being in favor of the honest administration of public affairs in state and county.

A Great Statesman's Secret.

The secret of a celebrated statesman's long life was his systematic way of eating. Every bite of food was chewed thirty times before swallowing. The result was he naturally enjoyed good health. Most men and women bolt their food, and eat things which were never intended to be eaten. They become costive, have a bad complexion, lose flesh, and are irritable and nervous, and the first thing they know they are "played out." It is gratifying to know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters cures stomach troubles. It is a purely vegetable medicine that has stood the test of fifty years. It cures cases which seem to be hopeless. Sufferers from any disorder of stomach, liver or bowels should try it.

A Remedy for Grave Abuses.

The Commercial Gazette, of Pittsburg, in commenting editorially upon the two amendments which will come before the people in November for their action, says:

"One of the amendments is admirable in spirit and purpose, providing as it does for personal registration of voters in cities. This amendment is sought as a remedy for the grave abuses that have grown up through the present liberal system of registration as it applies to our large cities. Registration of mythical persons, together with the negligence of city assessors, has brought about many serious errors and even crimes against the purity of the ballot box. The reason for authorizing the application of personal registration to cities, without extending it throughout the state, is that the country districts consider that they do not need personal registration and are adverse to the expense which such a system would impose on them. The adoption of this constitutional amendment does not enjoin personal registration, but it empowers the legislature to introduce it at the discretion of the law makers and subject to the retained constitutional restrictions."

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough, too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger, "for three generation of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at J. R. Irvine & Co's drug store. Trial bottles free.

What the Farmers Want.

F. G. Harris, the Quay candidate for state treasurer, in a reckless speech at the last session of the legislature wherein he was the abject slave of the ring, exclaimed: "The farmers don't seem to know what they want." When the returns of the election are in this stupid fling may be answered to the great discomfiture of Mr. Harris. Farmers, like all honest citizens, want honest government and they mean to have it. They know the record of Coray and Harris, that the reform candidate for state treasurer was the faithful servant of the people, while the choice of the corrupt bosses was their willing tool all the time. He voted against or dodged many good measures and supported every iniquitous bill that was in the interest of the Quay combine.

Vote for Coray.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Potcau, Ark. "It cured me of bloody flux and I cannot speak too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not praise, of those who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. For sale by all druggists.

DEATH OF JOSEPH.—Gen. 50:15-26. Read the chapter.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."—Psalm 90:12.

Jacob with all his house, numbering seventy souls, had come into Egypt to live with Joseph, his well beloved son. They had lived there seventeen years in plenty. Jacob had blessed the sons of Joseph, and said, "Behold, I die; but God will be with you and bring you again unto the land of your fathers."

Then Jacob called his sons to him and said, "Gather yourselves together that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days." Then he spoke the prophecy of each, and that "the sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come, and unto Him shall the obedience of the peoples be." Then Jacob died, a hundred and forty-seven years old, and was buried in the cave in the field of Macpelah with his fathers.

And Joseph's brothers feared that he would hate them, now that their father was dead; and they sent word to him, "Oh, forgive, I pray thee, the trespass of thy brothers and their sin." And Joseph wept when they spoke to him and he said, "Fear not; for am I in the place of God? But as for you, though ye thought evil against me, God meant it unto good; * * to save alive a numerous people."

And Joseph, when he was a hundred and ten years old, said to his brothers, "I shall die; but God will surely visit you and bring you up out of this land which He hath sworn to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob." And he caused them to swear, saying, "God will surely visit you and then shall ye carry up my bones from here." So he died; and they embalmed him and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

"By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel and gave commandment concerning his bones." No event was more unlikely to the natural sight, for they were slaves in a foreign land and with no leader or organization or means of escape. But God had promised Abraham, "I will give unto thee and to thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession; and I will be their God." And he who "staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that what He had promised He was able also to perform. And therefore it was imputed unto him for righteousness;" so, like him, Joseph knew what was afterward recorded, "There hath not failed one word of all His good promise, "and he was content to be numbered with those mentioned in the 11th chapter of Hebrews, "These all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise: God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect."

"And this is the promise that He hath promised us, even eternal life." "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering: for He is faithful that promised." "After this I will return and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up, that the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles, upon whom my name is called, saith the Lord, Who doeth all these things."

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy, for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

Enforcing the Game Law.

Six residents of New York state were arrested last week, charged with breaking the Pennsylvania and the United States game laws in Pike county. The arrests were made by Secretary Joseph Kalbfus, of the Pennsylvania game commission, who is also game warden. The hunters are alleged to have been caught with game and are charged with violating the Pennsylvania laws, which prohibit the shipment or carrying out of the state of its game birds or game mammals and requiring non-resident gunners who do not own real estate in the state to pay a license fee of $10 before shooting in the state, and the act of congress which requires that all packages containing game intended for shipment from one state to another must be so marked that the name and address of the shipper and the nature of the contents may be readily ascertained from inspection from the outside. The commissioners have been aware that for some time New Yorkers have been establishing hunting clubs and keeping up game preserves illegally in Pike county.

The Dartmouth College Case.

There have been arguments before the same great tribunal, more discursively eloquent, more witty and delivered with a greater parade of learning, than Webster's in the Dartmouth College case, says Representative S. W. McCall in the November Atlantic; but in the boldness, novelty and far reaching character of the propositions advanced, in the strength with which they were maintained, in the judgment with which the points of argument were selected and the skill with which they were pressed upon the court, in the natural oratorial passion, so great that for five hours the spectators were spellbound in the discussion of questions of law, no greater speech was ever made before the supreme court. No other advocate in that tribunal ever equaled what he himself never surpassed. The published report of this speech is apparently much condensed and contains only the outlines of what was said. There is no hint of the beautiful peroration. Mr. Ticknor says of the printed version that those who heard him when the speech was delivered "still wonder how such dry bones could ever have lived with the power they there witnessed and felt." But even the printed version is a classic in its severe simplicity and beauty. Although this was not the first cause argued by Webster before the national high court, it especially marked the beginning of a career which continued for more than a third of a century and stamps him on the whole as the greatest figure who ever appeared at that august bar.

Representative Harris may yet learn what the farmers of Pennsylvania want. They will be at the polls next Tuesday.

Facts For the Toiler.

The election is at hand and every citizen should cast an honest intelligent vote—a vote unstained by threat or bribe. The laboring man who does not vote to defend himself, his family and his business against men who have refused to aid him when he needed help, ought to lose his right to cast a ballot. The laboring man who does not vote as he strikes, in favor of better wages and better conditions is false to himself, to his family and to his fellow workingman.

Hon. E. A. Coray, Jr., who is now a candidate for state treasurer was also a member of the legislature and voted for every one of the laboring man's bills. F. A. Harris is also a candidate for state treasurer and he was likewise a member of the last legislature. How did he vote on their bills? He did'nt vote at all, but played the coward and dodged every one of them, and yet he has the impudence to ask workingmen to vote for him.

Mr. Coray voted for the employer's liability act, allowing the laboring man the right to sue for damages if he is injured by the fault of an employer.

How did Mr. Harris vote? Just as he always did, against the interests of the common people and in favor of corporations. Every man who earns his bread by honest toil owes it to himself and his fellows to do all he can against Harris and all his kind. Coray was always right. Harris was always wrong. Vote for Coray and your own interests.

Who come of a consumptive family when they begin to cough and the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond disproof that consumption is not and cannot be inherited. The microbe which breeds disease must absolutely be received by the individual before consumption can be developed.

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Channeyville, Olivet Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Doctor Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun". That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion—and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A Glance at the Political Situation In Pennsylvania.

The Democratic press of Pennsylvania never made a finer showing of genuine patriotism than during the present fight for the honor of the commonwealth. It is an aggressive unit for a successful movement against the combined public plunderers. Vote for Yerkes and Coray.

No right thinking American citizen can have any respect for a judge of any court who secretly gives away in advance its decisions. Such unprofessional and unjudicial conduct in a member of the highest tribunal in the state is to be condemned without mercy. Vote for Yerkes.

This is the year when the Democratic voters of Pennsylvania are coming out with their fighting clothes on. That means a great vote for Yerkes and Coray, two of the best candidates ever presented for the suffrages of the ling suffering people of this state.

This is the year when a great nonpartisan movement in Pennsylvania means the overthrow of Quayism and all that it implies. This is why the machine is working secretly but desperately to keep its grip on the state treasury.

During the last session of the most corrupt legislature Pennsylvania ever knew, the machine forces united to serve themselves. Now it is the people's chance to stand together in their own interests. Vote for Yerkes and Coray.

In politics the honest citizen always should find out what the machine wants him to do, and then quietly vote the other way. Mark your ballot for the reform candidates, Yerkes and Coray.

The members of the bar in all parts of the state are disgusted with Potter and without regard to party they will work and vote for the clean and high-minded candidate for the supreme bench, Judge Yerkes.

Judge Yerkes' election to the supreme bench is demanded by every consideration for the public interests. Justice Potter has made a record that is a disgrace to the whole state.

The fight against Coray's nomination by the Democrats proved a disastrous boomerang for the frightened ring. And now they are worse demoralized than ever.

A vote for Coray means the turning of the rascals out, and the turning on of the light. Get your neighbor to join you in voting for the Fusion candidate for state treasurer.

With Coray in charge of the state treasury there will be no big "rake off" for the machine; no due bills in the cash drawer for the benefit of Quay hirelings.

Coray's brilliant legislative record worried the Quay roosters. Wait till he gets in the state treasury and there will be a rise in the price of carpet bags.

Fusion has won splendid victories in various parts of the state. Let it now be carried out on a large scale and the taxpayers will never regret it.

Bring out the vote in every county and in every election district and the defeat of the Quay combine is as sure as the rising of the sun next Tuesday.

Now is the time to lift the lid and show what has been going on in the state treasury during the past 40 years. Vote for Coray.

Shall the People Rule?

In a recent speech at an enthusiastic Democratic meeting in Philadelphia, ex-Governor Pattison said:

"The old adage that 'in union there is strength' was never truer than it is in this canvass. The same uniformity of purpose that was necessary in the early '60's for the preservation of the nation is essential today to preserve the integrity of our city. I do not recall a campaign in 30 years in which the citizens of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania presented such a united front against a debauched and disgraceful rule as they do today.

"The men who are in power today have an absolute disregard for the constitution, upon which all legislation is based. Instead of a government of the people, for the people and by the people, the condition that we have today is a government of officeholders, for officeholders and by officeholders.

"Consider one part of it alone—the ballot laws. That no policeman, no firemen, no city officials shall interfere in elections or try in any way to control or influence the people's votes. And what have we today? As I learned in a recent tour of the wards, the city is absolutely under the power of these men. At every polling place you will find 15 or 20 officeholders with clubs. The old-fashioned people would never have allowed that; they fought for their rights. How long are we going to allow it?

"And yet there are some of us who are indifferent to all this, who say 'my family first, then my state.' Fellow citizens, the first duty of every man is to his state—if it were not for his state he would have no family. We must throw off this yoke. I believe sincerely that we will be restored to our own on election day."

Mission of True Democracy.

For a full quarter of a century, the Democratic party in Pennsylvania has been battling with the vicious and corrupt forces that have at times so deeply disgraced the majority party that the conscience of Republican voters has rebelled. Every reform victory won in Philadelphia, Pittsburg or any part of the state, has been chiefly the work of patriotic Democratic voters, who have courageously performed their duty at the polls. Twice an honest and fearless executive was elected and in the face of the most discouraging obstacles a substantial working force has served the people most effectively. The true spirit of Democracy is always hostile to the elements represented by Quayism in any form.

So in the present campaign for the rescue of the state treasury from the control of the ring and the protection of the court of last resort from demoralizing machine contamination, the Democratic citizenship of the commonwealth must be looked to for six-sevenths of the voters necessary to secure the success of the fusion movement. That the rank and file of the party will be fully equal to the occasion there can be no manner of doubt. They recognize the supreme fact that in such a contest mere partisanship must be secondary; that the first duty is to the state. Thus they are ready to join hands with the foes of machine misrule at every point. Their purpose is to overthrow the enemies of honest government and to that end their votes will be cast next Tuesday in solid array. A victory for fusion will be the triumph of pure democracy, for this combined effort is in behalf of the principles for which honest Democrats have always valiantly contended.

That success can be won is clear enough, if patriotic men fully realize their opportunity and their duty. There are 500,000 Democrats in Pennsylvania today and they have never had a better chance to express their convictions. A vote for Yerkes and Coray means the condemnation of the worst ring that ever cursed any state; an effective protest against every form of political and official debasement. These reform candidates stand for the practical exemplification of bedrock American principles. They meet the Jeffersonian requirements. They are clean, able, experienced, honest and courageous. It is the mission of true Democracy to support such candidates at all times. Let every Democratic voter, therefore, go to the polls and help to strike down the long entrenched ring of public pirates that have misruled and plundered the commonwealth.

Very nicely made in the new style, full cut and best of trimming, heavy weight, in four colors---Black, Blue, Tan and Oxford Gray. These coats are a bargain at $7.50, but for this Special Coat sale only . . . . . $3.85.

CHILDREN'S OVERCOATS and REEFERS, sizes from 3 years to 14, 6 different styles to select from, all made of all wool Meltons, Beavers and Kerseys, really worth double what we ask for them.

Also big bargains at all times in Men's, Boys' and Children's Suits. We will tell you about them some other time. In the meantime come to see us about a suit and see how much money we can save you.

Fall and Winter Hats and Caps.

We just wish to call your attention to the Hat and Cap line. Everything that is worn this winter is here for you at pleasing prices.

How About Underwear?

That's the question these cool mornings. Well, to make a long story short, we simply wish to say that we are prepared to dish out Underwear this season at least 20 per cent. cheaper than last season, and you know we were cheaper last season than any other store in town. So you can judge for yourself how we are selling them now. Men's, Women's, Boys' and Children's from 3 years up in size. All kinds and all styles.

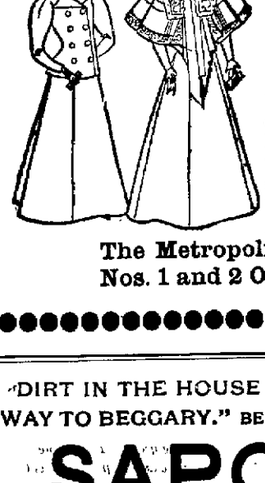

Come and ask for the price.

Here we are again talking shoes.

I tell you we never get tired talking shoes, because we are proud of the shoes we sell. For instance, we sell you a pair of Terhune shoes for men and tell you if they don't prove good bring them back and get your money. Do you suppose we'd do it if we hadn't confidence in Terhune shoes? The price may be a little more than you care to pay, but don't forget that this season Terhune's line runs in price from $3 up. So if you buy a pair of $3 shoes you are getting the best in the world for your money. James Means' shoes for men cost $2.50, a shoe that we think is the best on the market for the price, and so will every wearer think if he wears a pair. But Terhune's and James Means' shoes are not the only shoes we sell. We sell shoes for Men, Women, Boys, Misses and Children from 50c a pair up in price. Every pair you buy here must be good, if they are not we simply take them back and give you a new pair free of charge. To be plainer, so as not to be misunderstood: We guarantee every pair of our shoes to give good wear for the amount of money you pay for them.

A few words to the Ladies.

We are selling very pretty Fall and Winter Jackets, Box Coats, also Automobiles, Dress and Walking skirts and Misses' and Smaller Girls' Reefers.

A fine line of FURS.

Prices—Well, the goods must be seen to be appreciated. If our prices don't please you, we are sure no one else's will. Please call in and see us, look over our garments and point out their faults if you can find any. We will highly appreciate it, as we are willing to learn and get the right goods to please our trade. Should you happen not to find fault with our garments please don't be backward in telling your friends about them.

CORAY NOTIFIED.

Fusion Candidate Accepts Nomination For State Treasurer.

ALL HONEST MEN

Should Unite in the Fight Against the Combination of Plunderers—The Day of Deliverance is at Hand.

Elisha A Coray, Jr., received formal no ification of his nomination for state treasurer by the Democratic party in the following letter from the not'fication committee:

To Hon. Elisha A. Coray, Jr.:—Having been appointed a committee to notify you formally of your nomination as a candidate for the office of state treasurer by the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, we take this opportunity of performing the pleasant duty.

You have not been chosen for this important position because of any political opinion to which you subscribe, nor of any political party to which you belong; but for the higher reason that you are regarded as an upright, courageous and competent man, who will carefully guard the public interests, should you be elected to the office for which you have been named.

We believe the great majority of the honest, intelligent citizens of the state want a man at the head of the state treasury who is honest, fearless and capable, no matter what opinion he may hold as to purely political topics The questions that test a man's fitness for the important office for which you have been named are: Is he honest? Is he courageous? Is he capable? Believing that you fully represent all that good citizens demand, you have been selected as our candidate, and we feel that you will receive the cordial support of every Democrat who has the welfare of his state at heart.

In selecting you as its candidate the party is but following the advice of that great Democrat, Samuel J. Tilden, whose memory is revered by our party as one well worthy the honor which it has universally received. On November 2, 1871, he delivered an address which found a responsive echo in every intelligent man's mind. In that address occurred the following extract:

"If we find our dwellings wrapped in flames we should not inquire whether it was an Irishman or a German; whether it was a Republican or a Democrat who lent us a hand to put out the fire. And on this occasion, in this great city, knowing nothing about the action of your committee of seventy, except what I have heard, caring nothing who unites with us or with whom we unite for this grand object, I come before you to advocate a union of all honest men against a combination of plunderers."

The necessity that existed for a union of honest men in New York when Samuel J. Tilden uttered these words exists in a still stronger sense to-day in Pennsylvania, and it is believed that your selection as a candidate will aid materially in bringing this union about, and we sincerely hope that you will accept the nomination in the same spirit in which it is tendered, and that you may be triumphantly elected and the cause of good citizenship vindicated.

ANDREW J. PALM,
C. E. INGERSOLL,
F. J. FITZSIMMONS,
GEORGE R. DIXON,
JOHN T. FISHER

Mr. Coray's reply was as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee:—Replying to your letter advising me of my selection as the candidate of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania for the office of state treasurer, I desire, in accepting the nomination, to say I appreciate the trust you have reposed in me. To justify that confidence, and to carry into effect the principles enunciated in your platform, so far as they relate to the office of state treasurer, will be my single purpose if elected. I also wish to express the honor which I feel in being associated on the ticket with so pure and able a jurist as Judge Yerkes, whose election at this time, for obvious reasons, is a matter of great importance.

In this connection it may not be inappropriate to make some allusion to the issues of the campaign. During the first five months of the present year the people of Pennsylvania were permitted to witness the unfolding of the most ingeniously devised and gigantic scheme of public plunder ever attempted in any single session of the state legislature. The scheme involved the purchase of the organization of that body. It involved the purchase of a seat in the United States senate. It involved the changing of the libel laws for the purpose of muzzling the public press. It involved the destruction of popular government in cities of the second class. It involved laying all the real estate of the great city of Philadelphia under tribute to the machine. Finally, it involved reimbursement to the machine and its benchmen for all the time and trouble incurred by themselves, out of the assets of the commonwealth—that is to say, the taxpayers of the state were to be made to pay the expenses of their own humiliation and robbery. It was in the spirit of resistance to this conspiracy that fusion had its birth. The decent Democrats and decent Republicans in the legislature, laying aside all questions of party policy upon which honest men may honestly differ, fought shoulder to shoulder for the honor of the commonwealth and the protection of its taxpayers. In that battle your chairman, Mr. Creasy, and Representative Palm were among the foremost champions of the rights of the people.

The results of the struggle there waged are now matters of history. The public press is still free to expose the schemes of the corruptionists, and is improving the opportunity. The state's subfluvial deposits of coal have not changed ownership. The supreme court has removed the tax ripping club the machine held over the city of Philadelphia. Popular government, however, is suspended in our cities of the second class. Trolley franchises worth millions of dollars recently owned by the state now repose in the pockets of the machine leaders—sufficient in value to pay all the expenses of all the larceny committed, and, together with the many smaller grabs, variously disguised, leave a handsome margin of profit to the machine for its session's work.

The harmonious action of the Union and Democratic parties concentrates the the heretofore divided opposition which shalhas hindered effective protest being made against the machine at the polls. The spirit and purpose expressed in the platforms of the Democratic and Union parties are identical. They speak for honest government. The machine platform indorses all the plundering acts committed by the legislature. The issue is thus squarely drawn. The struggle is transferred from the halls of the legislature to the people. This is the court of last resort Victory for the machine would inevitably be construed as an indorsement of all the iniquities of which it has been guilty.

This election will have an important bearing upon the contest for governor and the legislature next year. If the machine is entrenched when the legislature of 1903 convenes the largest army of spoilsmen that ever assembled at Harrisburg will be on hand clamoring for the fleshpots. Another United States senator is to be elected at that time, and the machine has no other assets with which to pay for services rendered its candidates than those they get out of the commonwealth.

The kind of government we have in Pennsylvania comes high, but the people can continue it indefinitely if they are willing to vote for it, and pay for it. It is inconceivable, however, that they will do this any longer, and I am confident the day of deliverance is at hand.

Recognizing the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, by their platform adopted August 15, 1901, have made these questions the issue of the present campaign for the purpose of overthrowing the corrupt ring which now manages public affairs, I have no hesitation in accepting the nomination of your party upon that platform. Very truly yours,

IT'S NO USE—

A man simply can't make any sort of success in business if he's tortured with backache.

That means if his kidneys are out of order.

Backache is really kidney ache.

It is one of the first indications of kidney disease. It's bad enough of itself, but it leads to a great deal worse.

Unless it is stopped.

How?

Doan's Kidney Pills

There's not a form of kidney trouble that this wonderful little remedy will not cure, and the people stay cured.

Mr. J. W. King, Justice of the Peace, of No. 311 Union street, Bethlehem, Pa., says:

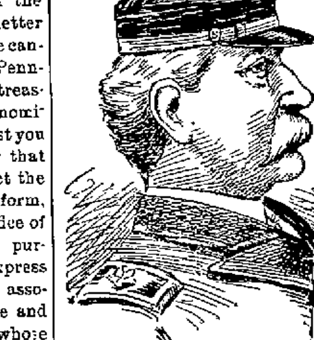

"It is considerably over three years since I told the residents of Bethlehem through our newspapers that Doan's Kidney Pills had cured me of backache and trouble arising with the kidneys. The pain and lameness which then existed has not returned, and I am only too pleased to re-endorse Doan's Kidney Pills, one preparation which acts up to the representations made for it."

and was appointed to the naval academy May 28, 1852 He served with distinction in the civil war, taking part in the capture of Morris island, S. C., July 10, 1863. He commanded the expedition which co-operated with General Gilmore in the reduction of the Confederate works on the island and was in the attack on Fort Sumter, September 8, 1863. He served on the monitor Patapsco in the siege of Charleston. In November, 1863, he was wounded by the premature explosion of a shell in the turret of the Patapsco. He was on the staff of Admiral Dahlgren and received honorable mention time and again for gallant conduct. After the war he achieved distinction in taking the monitor Monadock from Philadelphia to San Francisco, that being the first extended voyage of an iron-clad. He received a captain's commission in 1883 and was made a commodore in 1895. In 1898 he was given the rank of rear-admiral.

Spreads Like Wildfire

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by J. R. Irvine & Co., druggists.

The Duty of Mothers.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination: but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham's Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., and secure from a woman the most efficient advice without charge.

MISS PFALZGRAF

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swelled, and was generally miserable. She received an answer promptly with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

An Inspiring Spectacle.

Partisanship has a deep and lasting hold upon men who live under Republican government. Close association in political work is necessary to successful effort. Parties there must be and always will be. American citizens who believe in Democratic principles have always been distinguished for their fidelity and earnestness. The party of their choice has rounded a century and those who adhere to it never were firmer in their convictions than today. But true Democrats have always been patriots. They love their country and are ever ready to serve it. They have abiding faith in its institutions. Their zeal for its welfare reflects the highest honor upon the national character. Therefore, Democrats are capable of meeting every requirement of good citizenship. They can lay aside partisan preference when the public exigency demands it.

This is the situation in Pennsylvania today. Animated by a supreme desire to promote the best interests of the people, regardless of partisan advantage, the representatives of the party have opened the way for a union of all the elements opposed to the vicious forces which have so long and so corruptly ruled the state. There is but a single patriotic aim; therefore, the protest against misgovernment can only be made effective through united action at the polls. Every good citizen can help to strike down public enemies by working and voting for the candidates who represent the very best sentiment of both the great parties in Pennsylvania. The way is clear and the duty imperative.

A vote for Yerkes means the upholding of the highest standard of judicial ability and integrity; the protection of the court of last resort from the contamination of evil influences. Every citizen is vitally interested in the maintenance of the purity of the tribunals of justice. A vote for Coray means a direct and effective protest against the prostitution of public office to base selfish purposes. The state treasury has been the citadel of power within which a conscienceless and corrupt ring have been entrenched for nearly 40 years. To drive them out, open the books and enforce honest administration, is the bounden duty of voters this year. The chance to do this has never been so favorable.

Let the reform ticket be supported at the polls by every man who believes in honest government and the greatest victory for political righteousness ever known will be won on November 5. It is an inspiring spectacle to see hundreds of thousands of patriotic men earnestly joining hands in a good cause, forgetting for the time being all partisanship. Pennsylvania has thus attracted the attention of the whole country and the success of this long needed movement here will encourage like efforts elsewhere. The campaign will be very brief, but every day should add to the enthusiasm and vigor of the grand rally for the redemption of our great state from degrading and blighting misrule.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. An Effort to Speak.

Dogs in a native or wild state never bark. They simply whine, howl and growl. The noise which we call barking is found only among those that are domesticated. Columbus found that to be the case with the dogs he first brought to America and left at large, for on his return he tells us that they had lost their propensity to bark. Scientific men say that barking is really an effort on the part of the dog to speak.

A Last Word to Voters.

The duty of the hour is clearly and earnestly set forth in the address of the Democratic state committee, which appears in another column. There never has been a campaign, in this or any other state, in which baffled and desperate political ringsters used more disreputable methods to gain their ends. The attempt to prevent Democratic voters having a chance to express themselves at the polls was part of a characteristic scheme, conceived three months ago. It was hoped to consume so much time in a baseless contest in the Dauphin county court that the endorsement of the reform candidate for state treasurer would not be secured in time to have Mr. Coray's name appear in the Democratic column on the ballot.

But this cowardly movement of the frightened enemy was promptly met and defeated. The way is open for a successful union of reform forces and from all parts of the state the same story comes. The people are aroused as they have not been in many years, and they are going to come out next Tuesday and vote down the Quay combine and also save the supreme court from the disgraceful presence of a man who has shown himself utterly unfit to sit in that high tribunal.

Chairman Creasy urges hard work all along the line and if this suggestion is complied with there is every reason to believe that Yerkes and Coray will be elected. The contest in Philadelphia will be close and that means a splendid chance for fusion to win in the state. For years ballot box stuffers in that city have made a mockery of elections, but this time they are confronted by an organization that is strong enough and couragous enough to prevent a repetition of their monstrous crimes. The fusion candidates are both men of such superior excellence and high claims upon public confidence that every honest citizen should be glad to cast his ballot in their support. A full vote and an honest count, next Tuesday, will mean the redemption of Pennsylvania. Work and vote for Yerkes and Coray.

The Way to Secure Honest Elections.

The proposed amendment to the constitution in the interest of personal registration is one of the most important matters that will come before the people at the November election. While the general interest revolves around the election of the state and county officers, the fact should not be lost sight of that the registration amendment is a direct stride in the direction of reform in the methods of conducting the elections in Pennsylvania. The defeat of the amendment at the coming election will prevent its reintroduction in the legislature within a period of five years.

The registration amendment has been endorsed by the new Union party, the Democratic organization and the independent lement generally. At the same time many individual leaders of the Republican party have expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the amendment.

The proposed amendment discriminates between the cities and the country, enabling the legislature, in providing for personal registration, to confine it to the larger cities of the commonwealth.

This discrimination between the cities and the rural district is in recognition of the fact that to compel personal registration in the country would entail only hardship and needless expense, without bringing about any good result. Personal registration in Philadelphia and the larger cities of the state means the practical elimination of the fraud which has become notorious in connection with the elections.

A Tall Smoke Column.

During the burning of the Standard Oil company's tanks at Bayonne, N. J., in July, 1900, an immense column of smoke, shaped at the top like an umbrella, rose into the air, where very little wind was stirring, to an elevation, measured by triangulation, of 13,411 feet, or more than two miles and a half. Above the column white clouds formed in an otherwise cloudless sky and remained visible for two days, the fire continuing to burn and the smoke to rise. After the explosion of an oil tank flames shot up to a height of 3,000 feet, and the heat radiated from them was felt at a distance of a mile and three-quarters, where it was more noticeable than close to the fire.—Youth's Companion.

SORES AND ULCERS.

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition—is sluggish, weak and unable to throw off the poisons that accumulate in it. The system must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the sore, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S.S.S. begins the cure by first cleansing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system all morbid, effete matter. A CONSTANT DRAIN UPON THE SYSTEM. When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old indolent sores to grow worse and worse, and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviate pain, cannot reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does, and no matter how apparently hopeless your condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

Mr. J. B. Talbert, Lock Box 245, Winona, Miss., says: "Six years ago my leg from the knee to the foot was one solid sore. Several physicians treated me and I made two trips to Hot Springs, but found no relief. I was induced to try S. S. S., and it made a complete cure. I have been a perfectly well man ever since."

SSS is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known—contains no poisonous minerals to ruin the digestion and add to, rather than relieve your sufferings. If your flesh does not heal readily when scratched, bruised or cut, your blood is in bad condition, and any ordinary sore is apt to become chronic.

Sleeplessness almost invariably accompanies constipation and its manifold attendant evils—nervous disorders, indigestion, headache, loss of appetite, etc. To attempt to induce sleep by opiates is a serious mistake, for the brain is only benumbed and the body suffers. Celery King removes the cause of wakefulness by its soothing effect on the nerves and on the stomach and bowels.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

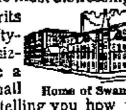

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. How For[illegible] Was Built.

The manner of [illegible] the fort at Old Point Comfort is interesting and throws some light on customs and practices then in vogue. The work was almost wholly done by slaves who were brought to the place by their masters and leased to the engineers in charge. The slave owner received 50 cents a day for each slave, and the government furnished each "laborer," as the slave was called, with two suits of working clothes, a pair or two of shoes, rations, quarters and occasionally a little tobacco. The "laborers" worked with very little clothes and generally without shoes. They lived in barracks and were subject to a kind of military discipline. The owners were regular in coming in to collect the hire for their slaves, from which we may infer that the "constituents" of those days knew how to appreciate a good thing to a degree worthy of the present generation.—Leslie's Weekly.

Care In Making Axes.

An ax is subject to rigid tests before it is pronounced perfect. The steel must be of the required temper, the weight of all axes of the same size must be uniform, all must be ground alike and in various other ways conform to an established standard. The inspector who tests the quality of the steel does so by hammering the blade and striking the edge to ascertain whether it be too brittle or not. An ax that breaks during the test is thrown aside to be made over. Before the material of an ax is in the proper shape it has been heated five times, including the tempering process, and the ax when completed has passed through the hands of about 40 workmen, each of whom has done something toward perfecting it. After passing inspection the axes go to the grinding department and from that to the polishers, who finish them upon emery wheels.

GENERAL

Election Proclamation.

God Save the Commonwealth!

WHEREAS, BY THE 10th SECTION of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An Act to amend the 10th section of an Act entitled, 'An act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers, requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties, and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections,'" approved the 26th day of June, A. D., 1895, it is provided as follows:

SECTION 10. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of every county, at least ten days before any general election to be held therein, except borough and township elections, to give notice of the same by advertisements in at least three news papers, it there be so many published in the county, two of said newspapers representing so far as practicable the political party which at the preceding November election cast the largest number of votes and the other one of said newspapers representing so far as practicable the political party which at the preceding November election cast the next largest number of votes, and in addition thereto the sheriff of every county shall, at least ten days before any general election to be held in cities of the first, second and third classes, give notice of the same by proclamation posted up in the most conspicuous places in every election district in said cities of the first, second and third class and in every such advertisement or proclamation,

I. Enumerate the officers to be elected and give a list of all the nominations made as provided in this act and to be voted for in such county, and the full text of all constitutional amendments submitted to a vote of the people, but the proclamation posted in each election district need not contain the names of any candidates but those to be voted for in such district

II. Designate the place at which the election is to be held.

III. He shall give notice that every person, excepting justices of the peace, who shall hold any office or appointment of profit or trust under the government of the United States, or of this state, or of any city or incorporated district, whether a commissioned officer or otherwise, a subordinate officer or agent who is or shall be employed under the legislative, executive or judiciary department of this state, or of the United States, or of any city or incorporated district, and also that every member of congress and of the state legislature, and of the select or common council of any city, or commissioners of any incorporated district, is, by law, incapable of holding or exercising at the same time the office or appointment of judge, inspector or clerk of any election of this commonwealth, and that no inspector, judge or other officer of any such election shall be eligible to any office to be then voted for except that of an election officer.

Also the following proposed amendments to the Constitution:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1.

Shall Section One, Article VIII of the Constitution be amended so as to read as follows?

Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections, subject, however, to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact:

1. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

2. He shall have resided in the State one year (or, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the State, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months,) immediately preceding the election.

3. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

4. If twenty-two years of age and upwards, he shall have paid within two years a State or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Shall Section Seven, Article VIII of the Constitution be amended so as to read as follows?

All laws regulating the holding of elections by the citizens or for the registration of electors shall be uniform throughout the State, but laws regulating and requiring the registration of electors may be enacted to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class.

The South Penn.

The Pittsburg Press says: "A corps of engineers, supposed to be employed by the Wabash interests, has been engaged the past few weeks surveying a route, which, to all appearance, is the old South Penn route. The officials of the Gould interests deny that the surveying is being done for the Wabash outlet to the seashore, but it is believed by all railroad men who are well versed in the topography of Pennsylvania that the old South Penn route is the only one feasible for the Wabash outlet." The Press follows this announcement with an interesting bit of history concerning the South Penn project and speaks of the value of such a line.

Bloody Race War.

A despatch from Balltown, La., says: "A race war between the whites and blacks, started at a negro campmeeting on Sunday, forms a story of blood unequalled in the history of the Pearl River valley. One white man is dead, another is dying with a bullet hole through his stomach and a third white man is badly wounded. Nine negroes were killed in the bloody affray—five men, three women and one small child. A dozen or perhaps more negroes escaped to the woods and swamps with wounds that are believed to be certain death in the brush away from medicinal care."

"Bimbo of Bombay."

One of the most pleasing plays of the day is the comedy, "Bimbo of Bombay," which will be presented at the Bedford opera house next Monday evening, November 4, by a company of talented actors. This troupe has been meeting with splendid success this season. According to the press, it owes its triumph to its genuine merit.

A ROUSING RALLY.

A notable meeting was held at Wilkesbarre Tuesday evening in the interest of the fusion nominees for supreme court justice and state treasurer. T. H. Atherton, a leading Republican, presided and the vice presidents included some of the most prominent Republicans in the county. The first speaker introduced was Senator J. Bayard Henry, of Philadelphia. Mr Henry said be was born a Republican, was a Republican now and expected to die a Republican, but he felt it to be his duty as a citizen and a lover of the institutions of his country to protest against the manner in which the government of this state was being conducted. He said it was far better to have an honest, upright Democratic judge on the supreme court bench of this state than a man who would betray the secrets of the court to an outside party Every property owner ought to be interested in this question of electing a supreme court justice, he said. "All know the reputation of Judge Harman Yerkes, and no Republican need hesitate for one moment to vote for him." Mr. Henry spoke at length of the work of the legislature. "It is a fact," he said, "that the people of this state were robbed of more money and valuable franchises, which represent money, by the last legislature than if they had been subject to some foreign power" The senator made a stirring appeal to the young men to come to the rescue, and said if Mr. Coray were elected state treasurer there would be no plum trees in that department of the government to shake.

John H. Fow, of Philadelphia, spoke of the opportunity that is presented to the voters to elect two honest men to office. "Mr Yerkes," he said, "is one of the most honorable common pleas judges in the state and if he is elected there will be no messages sent out from the court by telephone. He is above suspicion, and, as Judge Potter remains silent, there is nothing to do but elect Judge Yerkes by an overwhelming majority. As for our friend Coray," continued the speaker, "I am satisfied he is the idol of the people up here from what I have seen to-night, and I believe he will be our next state treasurer. With Yerkes elected to the supreme court bench and Coray to the state treasury, the friends of reform and good government everywhere will have cause to rejoice"

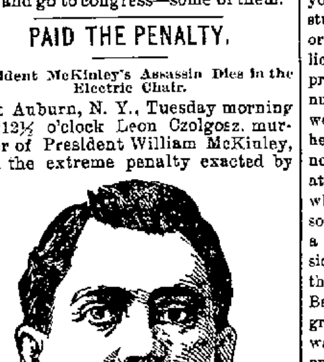

After an address by Joseph Mayne of Allentown, Representative Coray was introduced, and it was several minutes before he could speak, so demonstrative was the greeting which the audience gave him. "Quite recently," he said, when the applause subsided, "our distinguished governor and one of our distinguished United States senators declared that the administration of the state treasury has been so honest that the commonwealth has never lost a dollar. Let us see Upon the exposition grounds at Buffalo stands a building called 'Pennsylvania Building' The legislature appropriated $35,000 for it. People who looked it over estimate its value variously at from $25,000 to $35,000. Five thousand dollars for the building and $30,000 for the expense of the commission to superintend its erection, and the state has never lost a dollar, so they say.

"There is a difference between stealing that is legal and stealing that is illegal. If a hungry tramp breaks into an eating house to get a meal, that is illegal, and if caught he goes to jail. If a cashier takes the funds of a bank, that is illegal, and unless he gets away to Canada or evades detection until he can take refuge behind a statute of limitation, he goes to the penitentiary to wear striped clothes and meditate upon the wickedness of larceny unsanctioned by law. But if a corrupt machine discovers a lot of valuable trolley franchises belonging to the state that they want, but do not wish to pay for, they get the legislature and the governor to authorize the steal and carry the franchises away in their pockets. This is larceny legally consummated. Do they go to the penitentiary? Nay, verily. They become rich and go to congress—some of them."

PAID THE PENALTY.

At Auburn, N. Y., Tuesday morning at 7:12½ o'clock Leon Czolgosz, murderer of President William McKinley, paid the extreme penalty exacted by the law for his crime. He was shocked to death by 1,700 volts of electricity. He showed no sign of fear and talked to the witnesses while he was being strapped in the chair.

At 7 10½ o'clock two guards marched the prisoner to the death chamber. The prisoner's head was erect. He was intensely pale and as he tried to throw his head back and carry himself erect his chin quivered very perceptibly. As he was being seated he looked about at the assembled witnesses with quite a steady stare and said: "I killed the president because he was an enemy of the good people—of the working people." His voice trembled slightly at first, but gained strength with each word, and he spoke perfect English.

"I am not sorry for my crime," he said loudly, just as the guard pushed his head back on the rubber head rest and drew the strap across his forehead and chin. As the pressure on the straps tightened and bound the jaw slightly he mumbled: "I am awfully sorry I could not see my father." He had just finished the last statement when the strapping was completed and the guards stepped back. Warden Mead raised his hand and Electrician Davis turned the switch that brought 1,700 volts of electricity into the living body. The rush of the current threw the body so hard against the straps that they creaked perceptibly. The full current was kept on for forty-five seconds, then turned off gradually. Two more contacts were had, and at 7 15 it was turned off for good and the prisoner pronounced dead.

Immediately after the execution an autopsy was held. The surgeons issued a brief statement to the effect that the autopsy occupied over three hours and embraced a careful examination of all the bodily organs, including the brain. The examination revealed a perfectly healthy state of all the organs, including the brain.

Shortly after the autopsy the body was taken to the prison cemetery and an extraordinary precaution taken to completely destroy it. A carboy of acid was obtained and poured upon the body in the coffin after it had been lowered into the grave. Straw was used in the four corners of the grave as the earth was put in to give vent to such gasses as might form. It is the belief of the physicians that the body was entirely disintegrated within twelve hours.

The superintendent made a final effort Monday evening to get a confession from Czolgosz, but failed. The prisoner denied repeatedly that any one had told him to kill President McKinley. Asked why he committed the crime, he said he did it because the president refused to give him work when he asked him for it at Canton on a certain occasion. He also denied that he had followed the president to San Francisco to kill him. He absolutely denied that he had concealed his pistol with a handkerchief. He said he simply carried the weapon in his pocket.

OCTOBER 29.—One of our bill citizens left for parts unknown last week and took the gray horse along.

Miss Rhoda McIlwaine, of Altoona, is spending her vacation with her parents.

Martin Moore, of West Virginia, is visiting relatives at Fishertown and Spring Hope.

R. C. Smith and wife started for Johnstown on Thursday for a week's visit to friends there.

The barn of Aaron Rose was burned Saturday night. The stock was saved, but quite a lot of machinery was burned. It is not known how the fire originated. It is reported that there was seven hundred dollars' insurance on the barn and contents.

On Saturday the neighbors and friends of Mrs. Abram Hemminger surprised her at her home in Mann's Choice by gathering at her residence with a nice quilt and baskets of good things. Some went to work at the quilt while others got dinner. There were sixty-five persons present. Among those present were James Nawgle and Isaac Fleegle, who are fond of good company and a good dinner

Forrest Fisher is suffering with erysipelas.

Quite a number of our neighbors spent the greater part of last week attending church and visiting among friends in Dunkard Hollow, near Ryot. The German Baptists held their fall love feast on Sunday and preparatory services were held during the week.

Wilson Hissong started for Windber yesterday. He will stop whenever he strikes a good job of work.

The River Brethren had services at Spring Hope Sunday morning and the Baptists had services at night.

Wesley McCleary, of Windber, was in this community on Sunday. HOOKER.

Rev. and Mrs G. J. Roudabush are now home after a few weeks' visit among friends in Maryland and Virginia.

Mr and Mrs. Ditmer Allison are now residents of our village. Mr Allison will take charge of what is known as the Grange store.

Mrs. Lillie Clarke, son and daughter, of Hooversville, were visiting relatives in this vicinity last week.

Diphtheria took from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Othniel Felix another of their children, Amanda, on the 20th. She was aged 8 years, 7 months and 20 days She was buried beside her little brother in the Baptist cemetery.

Arbor Day was observed by the schools of this place Friday afternoon by the reading of a paper on trees by Miss Mary Shoenfelt, the declaiming of recitations by Miss Ethel Hoover and Warren Mickel, addresses by Prof. I. S. Ritchey and Rev. W E Fredericks and the planting of three trees, one by each school. The cornet band furnished excellent music for the occasion. CAJ

Salemville.

OCTOBER 29.—John Fetter and Jacob Hoover, who are working in Altoona, spent last week here with their parents.

John H. Miller, who has been ill with pneumonia, is able to be about again.

Rev Leath, of the E. S. D B, and John D. Wolfe will spent a few days in Salem, W. Va.

Miss Elizabeth Stayre returned to her home in Ridgley, Md., this morning.

The teachers of South Woodbury will hold their next local institute at the Salemville school house Saturday afternoon and evening, November 9. The institute promises to be an interesting one. In the evening some prominent speakers are expected to be present. Let everybody come and be benefited.

In last week's issue of the Inquirer Bartholomew asks me the question, "How do you like me?" I believe he must be a student of Socrates, and a bold one, too, or he would not ask such a question so publicly. Surely he must be under the impression that because he is one of that innumerable host of whom he spoke a few weeks ago, who are on their way to glory, he should be liked. And, perhaps, because no one has expressed himself in the affirmative, he takes this method of finding out what we do think of him. I do not think so much of a person who starts on so great a journey as you did, and become homesick before night, and return, not much the wiser from your starting. But, now, Bartholomew, we will have a lesson in grammar. We like the food we eat, the water we drink. But we love our friends, or admire them just as the case may be. So I cannot say that I like you very much. ANTONIO.

Centreville.

OCTOBER 30.—Irl Warmuth is nursing a very sore hand, from the effect of a bullet wound from a 32-calibre revolver. This should be a warning to our boys who are carrying these treacherous weapons. He was alone when the weapon was discharged. The bullet passed through the centre of his hand and lodged in a bed in the room.

J. C. Miller, our veteran turkey hunter, bagged three last week, a 13½-lb hen Friday evening and two 18-lb gobblers Saturday morning. A. D Deremer captured a fine young gobbler yesterday. Your correspondent helped devour it this evening.

Sheriff's Sales.

By virtue of sundry writs of Fi Fa., Al. Fi. Fa. and Levari Facias issued out of the Court of Common Pleas of Bedford County, and to me directed, there will be exposed to public sale, at the Court House, in the borough of Bedford, county of Bedford, and state of Penna., at one o'clock p.m, on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1901,

All the following described real estate situated in the borough of Bedford, Bedford county, Pa., to wit: Four lots of ground numbered in the general plan of said borough Nos 49, 50, 51 and 52, each bounded sixty feet on Penn street and extending back of that width, for each, two hundred and forty feet to an alley. Bounded on the east 240 feet by Thomas street and on the west by lot No 48, there being erected on lots Nos. 51 and 52 a large two-story brick mansion with mansard roof and large brick bay extension thereto, also a large two-story frame stable. Said premises also having thereon a bake shed and wood shed and other outbuildings; the title to which said lots by sundry good conveyances and assurances in the law became vested in one Samuel Brown, being so thereof seized died, leaving his last will and testament in writing. Since his decease duly proven and registered in the Register's office for the county of Bedford in will book No 4, page 220, wherein and whereby he did will and devise to his wife, Mary Brown, all his property and estate of every description to be at her disposal and control and the said Mary W. Brown by her deed dated 30th day of September, A. D., 1884, conveyed the said four mentioned lots to Rebecca Enfield, wife of Americus Enfield, one of the parties hereto, which said deed is duly recorded in Recorder's office of Bedford county in deed book No. 3, page 449, &c

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Americus Enfield and Rebecca Enfield, defendants

ALSO:—A tract of land situated in Bedford township, Bedford county, Penna., containing 4 acres, more or less, bounded and described as follows: On the north by Jacob Shunk, on the south by Frank Beegle, on the east by Abram Reichard, on the west by public road, having thereon erected a 2-story L dwelling house, weatherboarded, frame stable and other outbuildings.

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Henry Shunk, defendant.

ALSO:—No 1. A lot of ground in the Village of Baker's Summit, Bloomfield township, Bedford county, Penna, No 1 fronting 50 feet and extending back about 219 feet. Bounded and described as follows: On the east by public road, on the west by lands of Michael Fore, deceased, on the north by lot of J. R. Smeltzer, on the south by church property, having thereon erected a 2-story weatherboarded dwelling house with kitchen attached, board stable and other outbuildings.

ALSO:—No. 2. A lot of ground in the Village of Baker's Summit, Bloomfield township, Bedford county, Penna., fronting 60 feet and extending back about 220 feet. Bounded and described as follows: On the north by lands of Rachel Madara, on the south by lot of J R Smeltzer, on the east by public road, on the west by an alley, having thereon erected a 2-story plank dwelling house and small stable

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Sue Detwiler, defendant.

ALSO:—A lot or piece of ground situated in the Borough of Rainsburg, Bedford county, Penna., bounded and described as follows: On the east and north by an alley, on the west by Main street, on the south by lot of Josiah Amos, having thereon erected a 2-story weatherboarded dwelling house with office attached, frame stable, summer house and other outbuildings

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of A. C. Wolf, M D, defendant

ALSO:—A lot or piece of ground in Bedford borough, Bedford county, Pa., bounded and described as follows: On the north by an alley, on the south by A F Diehl, on the east by Hollidaysburg pike, on the west by an alley, having thereon erected a frame weatherboarded dwelling house, frame stable and other outbuildings

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of W. A. Morehouse, defendant.

TERMS:—The price for which the property is sold must be paid at time of sale, or such other arrangements made as will be approved, otherwise the property will be immediately put up and sold at the risk and expense of the person to whom it was first sold, and, in case of deficiency, at such resale, shall make good the same, and in no instance will the deed be presented to the court for confirmation unless the money is actually paid to the sheriff. Purchasers who are lien creditors, must procure a certified list of liens for the sheriff, in order to apply the amount of bids or any part thereof on their liens.

S. F. GATES, Sheriff.
